March 2026—Agilent Technologies launched the Agilent S540MD slide scanner system, a whole slide imaging digital scanner available for sale in select European markets. The system offers a capacity of up to 540 slides, continuous loading, and standard rack compatibility and features automated scanning modes and AI-assisted tissue detection.

The scanner is the Agilent-branded version of the Hamamatsu NanoZoomer S540MD slide scanner system. It will initially be available as an in vitro diagnostic in Germany, France, Belgium, Spain, Austria, Luxembourg, Italy, the U.K., and Switzerland, with plans to expand into additional European countries this year.
