

ARUP chooses Gestalt's PathFlow for digital pathology

April 13, 2023—ARUP Laboratories has selected Gestalt Diagnostics' PathFlow digital platform to support its vision, ARUP says, for digital pathology. PathFlow is a cloud-based digital pathology platform that is made up of professional, educational, and research modules. Daniel Albertson, MD, ARUP division chief of anatomic pathology and molecular oncology, says Gestalt's "agnostic approach to hardware and laboratory information systems combined with Gestalt-built and third-party AI applications provide the flexibility to expand digital pathology in a thoughtful manner."
