

CompuGroup Medical hosts virtual user conference

written by CAP TODAY
October 6, 2020

Oct. 6, 2020—CompuGroup Medical US will hold its annual CGM LABDAQ User Conference virtually, starting Oct. 6. The conference aims to help laboratory technicians, lab managers, and other specialists better use CGM LABDAQ to create a laboratory that runs as effectively and efficiently as possible.

During the CGM LABDAQ Virtual User Conference 2020, users will log in to interactive presentations regarding the latest software features, HL7 applications and tools, the future of the industry, tips for getting the most out of the CGM LABNEXUS web portal, and more.

“I am looking forward to meeting clients that I have not yet worked with and catching up with ones I have,” Rob Nelson, application integration engineer, said in a press release. Nelson will host a session presenting CGM LABNEXUS laboratory outreach solution. “The CGM LABNEXUS presentation will offer a learning experience with tips and shortcuts to help labs improve their workflows.”

The CGM LABDAQ Virtual User Conference 2020 takes place throughout October. Users may continue to register for sessions throughout the month.

©2026 CAP TODAY, all rights reserved.