

General Data acquires Triangle Biomedical, 8/13:89

General Data has acquired Triangle Biomedical Sciences. TBS will become a division of General Data Healthcare, which provides specialty products and solutions to hospitals, independent labs, and other health care facilities.

With this acquisition, General Data Healthcare will offer an expanded portfolio of equipment, solutions, and supplies that enable histology laboratories to use advanced products and technologies for specimen identification, preparation, processing, tracking, and storage.

General Data introduced the first cassette labeler that uses laser-ablation technology, which has become the global standard for bar-code identification of tissue cassettes. TBS has a comprehensive histology product line.
