

Hc1.com and Beckman Coulter strategic partnership, 5/14

May 2014—Beckman Coulter Diagnostics and Hc1.com entered a strategic partnership wherein they will combine Beckman Coulter's clinical diagnostic systems with Hc1.com's software-as-a-service Healthcare Relationship Cloud. Beckman Coulter will offer Hc1.com as its exclusive health care relationship-management solution for laboratories in North America. The software solution addresses key metrics, including test turnaround time, test utilization by provider, and productivity per lab operator. The solution also helps identify issues that require immediate action and alerts laboratory management to issues that are prevalent across the entire health system.
