

How to tap the value of your lab's data

Executives at Carmel, Ind.-based laboratory information system company Orchard Software share their views on how health care's change from a volume-based to a value-based service model will affect the lab. This presentation points out specific ways that the laboratory can deliver for its facility and its customers in a value-based reimbursement world. Watch the video.