

HSV assay and molecular diagnostics platform, 12/15

Luminex received FDA clearance for its Aries System and Aries HSV 1&2 Assay. Aries is a sample-to-answer molecular diagnostics platform designed to increase laboratory efficiency, ensure result accuracy, and fit into a lean laboratory environment. Aries uses internal barcode scanning and other features to minimize operator errors. Two independent modules each support from one to six cassettes, allowing for stat and batch testing. IVD and MultiCode Analyte Specific Reagents can be run simultaneously with a common universal assay protocol. An integrated touchscreen PC eliminates the need for a separate computer, standalone keyboard, and mouse, thus maximizing bench space.
