

Human protein antibodies, 9/13

The Binding Site now offers a specialized line of anti-human serum protein antibodies.

Through the use of a patented technique, which yields highly specific antibodies, all available products display a high degree of purity, shelf-life stability, and lot-to-lot consistency. The range of specialized antibodies includes those involved in blood coagulation, complement activation, acute-phase reactants, immunoglobulin response, and others.

The antibodies can be conjugated to biotin, fluorescein, horseradish peroxidase, rhodamine, and others.

The Binding Site, 800-633-4484