

New CLSI editions: M100-S24, eM100, 4/14

April 2014—The Clinical and Laboratory Standards Institute released a new edition of its document M100-S24: Performance Standards for Antimicrobial Susceptibility Testing; Twenty-Fourth Informational Supplement, which provides updated tables for the CLSI antimicrobial susceptibility testing standards M02-A11, M07-A9, and M11-A8. This document includes the revised breakpoints, new recommendations, and reporting changes needed for improving detection and reporting antimicrobial resistance.

M100-S24 is available in print and electronic PDF formats with an online edition called eM100.
