

Rhinovirus monoclonal antibodies, 1/14

written by CAP TODAY

January 17, 2014

January 2014—ViroStat has released three new monoclonal antibodies that have broad reactivity with several rhinovirus types. These antibodies are reactive with the VP3 capsid protein and function in ELISA and IFA to detect these viruses. Data sheets for these antibodies are available from the company.

ViroStat, 207-856-6620

©2026 CAP TODAY, all rights reserved.