

Stago acquires HemoSonics, 8/17

August 2017—The Stago group has completed the acquisition of HemoSonics LLC, a company that develops point-of-care testing solutions and is based in Charlottesville, Va., with facilities in Durham, NC. With the acquisition of HemoSonics' patented SEER (sonic estimation of elasticity via resonance) technology and its associated Quantra Hemostasis Analyzer, Stago aims to develop a point-of-care offering.
