

StatLab launches PiSmart slide printer

February 2024—StatLab announced the availability of its PiSmart thermal transfer slide printer for the automated printing of histology slides with patient information in three to five seconds. The slide printer connects with all on-market LIS systems or can be used as a standalone printer. The printer incorporates two hoppers for preloading different slide types. The single-slide manual load option allows users to bypass the hoppers when needed. PathSmart tracking software is included.
