

Vaginosis POC test gets CE mark, 11/17

November 2017—Mologic (Thurleigh, U.K.) received CE marking for its BVPro, a 15-minute point-of-care diagnostic that detects sialidase enzyme activity from a vaginal swab sample. The test has been designed in the lateral flow format so that the visual result is easy to interpret. Mologic has signed a three-year distribution agreement with German company Hitado, a subsidiary of Sysmex, to distribute BVPro in Germany.
