

Water purification system, 9/13

Thermo Fisher Scientific has launched its Barnstead GenPure xCAD Plus water purification system, which has technology that allows simultaneous dispensing from three remote dispensers for exceptional flexibility and ease of use in shared laboratory environments.

In addition to its advanced dispensing technology, the Barnstead GenPure xCAD Plus is easy to use and comes with leak detection, feed water monitoring, and all the consumables necessary to get started, allowing for simple ordering and setup.

The system, now available in North America and Latin America, also has flexible dispensing, volumetric dispensing, and an advanced controller.
